After getting his hands on a mysterious book, young gamer Dave Akers is kidnapped by a faceless organization that turns him into an unstoppable killing machine, using his rage to commit gruesome acts of mayhem. With his best friends left to fend for themselves, Dave has only one thing to live for: killing and taking over as leader of the group! A collection of ten retro-style puzzle game levels from the 1980s and 1990s, inspired by classic shmup games and by classic video games in general. Dependent on the type of game, they can be very difficult, very challenging, or they might just be ridiculously simple. If you're not used to old pixel art, then you might give up early. But if you find a challenge that you can overcome, there might be a road to higher achievements to unlock. Biome: Crash looks to be a real time take on the genre, and I loved the demo I played back in the fall. The player is an alien stranded on Earth who must find a way to survive while using just a few items. With nothing else, it makes for a fun and compelling watch. It's all about your ability to use your environment and a toolbox of items to craft a strategy that can bring you to victory. The Revenant: Retribution is a new case-based game by Vivid Games where you play as an agent of justice who has to beat a series of three-stage investigations. You can do this alone or in cooperative local co-op. I played this a while back and loved it. It's a fun arcade-style shooter. The title's hard to get, but you can get it by using the $5 Steam-to-Steam code you get by paying $5 on Steam to this developer. It's fair to say that a lot of classic FPS games have been remasters recently. The recent releases such as DOOM 4 and Wolfenstein II: The New Colossus all have major improvements to graphical and other technical stuff, and make great recommendations if you're a fan of classic gaming. To me, the first game on this list, Day of the Tentacle

THE KING IN THE NORTH: A nationalistic Viking named Rollo who is named as the King of Norway, after Ragnorak (for "viking" in Old Norse) and uniting Norway under one man. It is clear from this trailer that he has the backing of the Golden Company, Daenerys, and Daenerys' handmaidens, Irri and Jhiqui. HBO's official Game of Thrones website declared, "Once again, Cersei is brutally thwarted by the Red Woman as she lays siege to Winterfell... but will the King in the North finally surrender?" On the Kingsroad to Winterfell, the pressure of leadership is felt by the likes of Brienne, Arya, The Hound, Sansa, Bran and Osha, and eventually, all the Ironborns. Westeros is once again under attack from foreign forces, but who are they? We get to see the Children of the Forest again, who seem to be coordinating with Dany and the Golden Company in preparation of the war. Medal The Little Walker Medal () is the oldest sports award in Ukraine, granted since 1913 by the Union of Ukrainian Students in Germany (, UUKSG) "for achievements in the development of the sports movement of the Ukrainian students in Germany". It is awarded annually for outstanding achievements in football, wrestling, cycling, tennis, or futsal. History Yuri Berezovsky was first given the "Little Garden" () award in 1913, for his achievements in football, although there was not yet an independent Ukrainian Student Union in Germany. In 1921, there was a significant increase of the number of participants in the games, and to secure this, the Union of Ukrainian Students in Germany (the UUKSG) created the first post of the "Director of the Student Games". During the Nazi occupation, German football was not played and organized sports were banned. Despite this, the "Little Garden" was awarded to the best players of the students during this period. History of the Little Walker Medal In 1927, the first official award ceremony was held, which featured Ukrainian footballer Volodymyr Rudenko as a recipient. The name "Little Garden" is believed to have been inspired by the title "Little Russian". It was not until 1938 that the trophy was actually made, which was awarded annually in German to the best footballer of the competition until 1945. The official name was "Goldener Svjatoj", after the paper Samoobronni Ukraïni (Samobor, a city on the border with Croatia). 1947 Prize in the new Soviet Union In the period from the early 1960s to the early 1990s, the tournament was called the Golden ball of the Green Wheel (, Zolonna Wyrubla), named after the Soviet national football team.
